Talkin’ Turf with Travis

This is a quarterly column on landscape tips offered by Manager of Park Services and Municipal Arborist Travis E. Sales. To learn more, watch video tips by Travis at www.cityofmesquite.com/travis.

The month of March is one of the most important months of the year to get your landscape and turfgrass ready for the long hot summers here in Texas. Fertilizer plays an important role in any turfgrass/landscape maintenance program. The first application should be applied when your yard is starting to turn green in late March. The following are the recommended fertilization rates of slow-release nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium for this first application.

- Hybrid/Common Bermuda: 15-5-10 (6.67 pounds per 1,000 square-feet)
- St. Augustine: 20-5-10 (5.0 pounds per 1,000 square-feet)
- Shrubs/Groundcovers: 13-13-13
- Flowering Shrubs: 15-25-10

Fertilizer should be applied in March, June, July and October. Remember, do not over apply the fertilizer as this can cause turfgrass disease.
